Texas A&M University-Central Texas Mission

Texas A&M University-Central Texas is a public, upper-level university offering baccalaureate and graduate degrees important to the region and the state. It is committed to high quality, rigorous, and innovative educational programs delivered in a variety of instructional modes to a diverse student population through exceptional teaching, service, and applied scholarship. With an emphasis on community engagement, the university employs emerging technology to enhance student learning and to nurture its partnerships with regional community colleges, the military presence in its region, and the community at large.

Welcome from the Student Conduct Office!

Welcome to the start of a new academic year! The start of a new academic year is an exciting time, with new and returning members of our community reconnecting as well as forming new friendships and exploring new opportunities for success. On behalf of the Student Conduct Office, please accept our wishes for a great semester and successful academic year.

The standards of conduct outlined in the Student Rules were developed in consultation with students, faculty, university administrative leadership, and staff with specific consideration for the well-being, honor, and dignity of all who live, learn, and work in our educational community. Students and university student groups are expected to conduct themselves in a manner that demonstrates respect for the rights and property of others and upholds the integrity of the university community.

Enrollment at Texas A&M University-Central Texas is voluntary and is considered implicit acceptance of standards of conduct contained in the Code and other policies applicable to students, all of which are educational and administrative in nature and designed to help students understand expectations and accept responsibility for their own actions. The Code applies to conduct that occurs on university premises, at university activities and to behavior that may occur off campus that could adversely affect the university community, the pursuit of the university's educational mission or that could create a hostile environment for any member of our campus community.

The compilation of standards below is collectively noted as the Code of Student Conduct. Any member of our community may suggest a rule revision by visiting Student Conduct's home in Canvas.

Anyone can refer alleged violations of the Code of Student Conduct to the Student Conduct Office. It is important that complaints regarding alleged misconduct are referred as soon as possible after the misconduct occurs.

We encourage you to visit the Student Conduct Office's website where additional information and resources are available; including a detailed description of the student conduct process, statistics about our process, your rights and responsibilities as a student, and information on submitting documentation and reviewing your student records held by the office. You are also encouraged to visit our community in Canvas with resources to help you avoid plagiarism and inappropriate use of artificial intelligence.

Academic Conduct Rules

Academic Rights & Responsibilities

Students enrolling at Texas A&M University-Central Texas (A&M-Central Texas) voluntarily and knowingly accept the responsibility to fulfill the requirements for obtaining a college education. Students are expected to uphold the utmost level of honor, integrity, and commitment to the community.

Attendance

The university views class attendance as an individual student responsibility and is a crucial factor for academic success. Students are expected to attend class and to complete all assignments. Instructors are expected to provide notice of the dates on which major exams will be given and assignments will be due on the course syllabus, which must be made available by the first class meeting.

A&M-Central Texas recognizes each student as an adult with adult attitudes and responsibilities and further recognizes the unique relationship between faculty and student and the responsibility each has to the others. The faculty member has the responsibility and authority to determine if make-up work can be done due to absences. Students may request make-up consideration for valid and verifiable reasons such as illness, death in the immediate family, legal proceedings, or participation in sponsored university activities.

The student is responsible for providing satisfactory evidence to the instructor to substantiate the reason for absence. Among the reasons for which absences are considered excused by the university are the following:

- participation in an activity appearing on the university's authorized activity list;
- death or major illness in a student's immediate family. Immediate family may include mother, father, sister, brother, grandparents, spouse, child, spouse's child, spouse's parents, spouse's grandparents, stepmother, stepfather, stepsister, stepbrother, step-grandparents, grandchild, step-grandchild, legal guardian, and others as deemed appropriate by the instructor or student's academic Dean or designee;
- illness of a dependent family member;
- participation in legal proceedings or administrative procedures that require a student's presence;
- religious holy days (See Appendix C);
- injury or illness that is too severe or contagious for the student to attend class;
- injury or illness of three or more days. For injury or illness that requires a student to be absent from classes for three or more business days (to include classes on Saturday), the student should obtain a medical confirmation note from a medical provider. The medical confirmation note must contain the date and time of the illness and medical professional's confirmation of needed absence;
- injury or illness less than three days. Faculty members may require confirmation of student injury or illness that is serious enough for a student to be absent from class for a period of less than three (3) business days (to include classes on Saturday);

- required participation in military duties;
- mandatory admission interviews for professional or graduate school which cannot be rescheduled.

In accordance with Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972, A&M-Central Texas shall treat pregnancy (childbirth, false pregnancy, termination of pregnancy and recovery therefrom) and related conditions as a justification for an excused absence for so long a period as is deemed medically necessary by the student's physician. Requests for excused absence related to pregnancy should be directed to the instructor; questions about Title IX should be directed to the University Title IX Coordinator or one of the Deputy Title IX Coordinators.

Code of Academic Honesty

Texas A&M University-Central Texas values the integrity of the academic enterprise and strives for the highest standards of academic conduct. A&M-Central Texas expects its students, faculty, and staff to support the adherence to high standards of personal and scholarly conduct to preserve the honor and integrity of the creative community.

Though we believe in a community approach, we want to emphasize that students' responsibilities include, but are not limited to, maintaining integrity in their own academic work, reporting incidents of academic misconduct to the instructor involved, and to be educated on these academic community standards.

Ignorance of our standards and expectations is never an excuse to act with a lack of integrity. Any violation of the Code of Academic Honesty shall also be considered a violation of the A&M University-Central Texas Code of Student Conduct.

1. Definitions of Academic Integrity

- 1.1. Integrity is integral to scholarly work. The Center for Academic Integrity defines academic integrity as a "commitment, even in the face of adversity, to five fundamental values: honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility." The excellence we, as an academic community, strive for is bound fundamentally to these values. Academic misconduct is any act that improperly affects a true and honest evaluation of a student's academic performance.
- 1.2. Misconduct may occur when the student acts knowingly or should reasonably know the act is misconduct.

2. Definition of Academic Work

- 2.1. Academic work is defined as all work submitted for any course or program and all academic activities such as enrollment and withdrawal from a class.
- 2.2. All academic work at A&M University-Central Texas is expected to be submitted with integrity and uncompromising adherence to the standards described. Academic dishonest includes the commission of any of the following acts. This listing is not, however, exclusive of any other acts that may reasonably be called academic dishonesty.

3. Academic Integrity Rules

- 3.1. Cheating. Cheating is committing fraud on an exam, report, paper, or other course assignment or requirement. Students shall not, without prior approval of the instructor, use or attempt to use material not intended for student use, information, instructor designated materials, or study aids in any form.
- 3.2. Plagiarism. Plagiarism is defined as representing another's work as one's own without acknowledgement or citation. Students shall not replicate or assume the ideas, thoughts, theories, formulas, illustrative work, or words of another person without proper acknowledgement and citation.
- 3.3. Unauthorized Collaboration. Many classes will emphasize working with a partner or in groups. Additionally, A&M-Central Texas encourages students to be supportive of one another. Unless otherwise approved by the course instructor it is assumed that all work submitted is the product of the sole student. Simply discussing assignments is not a violation of the Code. Students must submit work that is original to them and will only collaborate when given permission by the course instructor.
- 3.4. Falsification of Data, Records, and Official Documents. Altering or manufacturing information submitted for a grade, publication, admission (admission to the university or a class), or for an excused absence. Students shall not falsify or provide manufactured data on academic work, admission information, student records, grades, or documentation to or from instructors.
- 3.5. Accessory to Prohibited Conduct. Assisting another person in academic misconduct or allowing academic misconduct to happen while having knowledge of the act is equivalent to committing the specific act. Students are encouraged to be supportive of one another; however, students are strongly discouraged from sharing work. Students who have knowledge of academic misconduct prior to or after its completion are expected to share that information with the instructor.
- 3.6. Malicious Interference / Tampering with University Property. Stealing, changing, destroying, gaining unauthorized access to, or course requirement more than once without prior approval from the instructor. Unless given specific prior permission, students are expected to only submit academic work once.
- 3.7. Violation of Course Rules. Instructors and academic programs and departments are tasked with creating courses that will challenge students and create an optimal learning experience. Syllabi and other instructions given by instructors are used to communicate course rules. A student shall not violate rules established by the course syllabus, verbal or written instructions, department or programmatic standards, or materials related to the content of the course.

3.8. Reporting Academic Misconduct. Anyone in the university community may, and are encouraged to, report academic misconduct.

3.9. Appellate Process

3.9.1. Students who wish to request a reconsideration of the outcome of their academic misconduct hearing must follow the request procedure outlined in the Code of Student Conduct. Students wishing to request reconsideration of a grade assigned by a faculty member must follow the grade appeals procedure.

Student Life Rules

4. Student Rights & Responsibilities

Each student shall have the right to participate in all areas and activities of the university, free from any form of discrimination, including harassment, on the basis of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender, or veteran status in accordance with applicable federal and state laws. No university official or student, regardless of position or rank, shall violate these rights; any custom, tradition, or regulation in conflict will not be allowed to prevail. Students are always expected to recognize constituted authority, to conform to the ordinary rules of good conduct, to be truthful, to respect the rights of others, to protect private and public property, and to make the best of their time toward an education.

5. Basic Rules and Procedures Governing Student Life

5.3. Every student has the right to all advantages, prestige, and honors available to a student at this university. The student retains the rights guaranteed under the Constitution of the United States, the right of freedom from control by any persons except as may be in accord with published rules of the university, the right to pursue an education and to receive a degree or certificate for the successful completion of its requirements.

In conjunction with the governing documents, the Student Government Association shall provide for the appointment of students to university committees.

6. Code of Student Conduct

The Code of Student Conduct is not intended to be a comprehensive list of standards students are held to and whenever this document is unclear, students are expected to uphold the "spirit" of the Code of Student Conduct. Any question of interpretation or application of this Code of Student Conduct shall be referred to the Student Conduct Office. The General Order on Judicial Standards or Procedural and Substance in Review of Student Discipline in Tax Supported Institutions of Higher Education (45 F.R.D. 133, 136, 142) (W.D. Mo 1968) (en banc) supports higher standards of behavior for students.

Attendance at a university is not compulsory. The voluntary attendance of a student at a university is a voluntary entrance into the academic community. By such voluntary entrance, the student voluntarily assumes obligations of performance and behavior reasonable imposed by the university. These obligations are generally much higher than those imposed on all citizens by the civil and criminal law. A university may respond to student behavior to ensure compliance with these higher obligations as a teaching method or to sever the student from the academic community. The General Order further emphasizes the ability of universities to establish standards of superior ethical and moral behavior that occur either on or off campus.

No rule, no matter how carefully worded, can cover all eventualities completely. Beyond specific rules, we should all aspire to conduct ourselves with respect for others, the highest ethical standards, and personal integrity. This is what the Warrior Spirit is all about.

6.1. Definitions

Only for purposes of this Code of Student Conduct, the following terms and definitions will apply. The Assistant Vice President & Dean of Student Affairs or designee reserves the right to interpret and enforce this Code of Student Conduct.

Retaliatory actions include, but are not limited to, threats or actual violence against the person or that person’s property, adverse educational or employment consequences, ridicule, intimidation, bullying, or ostracism. (For sex-based behaviors that are severe, persistent, or pervasive to create a work, education, or campus living environment that a reasonable person would consider intimidating, abusive, or offensive; sexual exploitation; sexual assault; or sexual harassment; please see Texas A&M University System Regulation 08.01.01 and University Rule 08.01.01.D1).

6.4.20. Violations of Law and University Discipline. The focus of inquiry in student conduct proceedings shall be the determination of whether a violation of university rules occurred. Student conduct proceedings shall be informal in nature and need not comply with the formal processes associated with the criminal and civil courts, nor shall deviations from the prescribed process necessarily invalidate a decision or proceeding unless significant prejudice to the student or University may result. Standards outlined by the University for students may be higher than those standards set for the general population. As each person is subject to multiple layers of expectations through Federal, State, County and local governments, students are further expected to maintain a higher standard of behavior as members of the University community. Students failing to adhere to those standards may be subject to a university conduct process in addition to civil or criminal litigation should the behavior also be a potential violation of the law. The attempted analogy of student discipline to criminal proceedings against adults and juveniles is not sound. Students may be charged with conduct that potentially violates both the criminal law and this Code of Student Conduct (that is, if both possible violations result from the same factual situation) without regard to the pendency of civil or criminal litigation in court or criminal arrest and prosecution. Proceedings under this Code of Student Conduct may be carried out prior to, simultaneously with, or following civil or criminal proceedings off campus at the discretion of the Assistant Vice President and Dean of Student Affairs or designee. Determinations made or sanctions imposed under this Code of Student Conduct shall not be subject to change because criminal charges were dismissed, reduced, or resolved in favor of or against the criminal law defendant. When a student is charged by federal, state, or local authorities with a violation of law, the University will not request or agree to special consideration for that individual because of that individual's status as a student. If the alleged offense is also being processed under the Code of Student Conduct, the University may advise off-campus authorities of the existence of the Code of Student Conduct and of how matters are typically handled within the University community. The University will attempt to cooperate with law enforcement and other agencies in the enforcement of criminal law on campus.

6.5. Amnesty

6.5.1. The university encourages students to refer sexual misconduct or other emergencies and violations of our Code and seeks to remove barriers preventing individuals from sharing information.

6.5.2. Amnesty relating to sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, and stalking. A&M-Central Texas will not take any disciplinary action against a student "enrolled at the institution who in good faith reports to the institution being the victim of, or a witness to, an incident of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, or stalking" [as defined in A&M System Regulation 08.01.01, Civil Rights Compliance], for a violation by the student of the institution's code of conduct occurring at or near the time of the incident, regardless of the location at which the incident occurred or the outcome of the institution's disciplinary process regarding the incident, if any." (Texas Education Code Sec. 51.284).

6.5.2.1. This amnesty does not apply in situations where:

- A student “reports the student’s own commission or assistance in the commission of sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, or stalking” [as defined in System Regulation 08.01.01 Civil Rights Compliance]; or
- A student’s behavior occurring near or at the time of the incident could result in a suspension or expulsion from the university. For the purposes of this rule, suspension or expulsion may be possible outcomes when the student’s behavior:
 - Threatens or endangers the physical or mental health and/or safety of other individuals;
 - Causes significant property damage or loss;
 - Causes significant burden on the university and/or community members to repair the harm caused by the behavior;
 - Would cause a reasonable person similarly situated to fear for their safety or suffer substantial emotional distress;
 - Causes significant disruption that limits others’ ability to access the academic, co-curricular, or work environment; or
 - Has demonstrated a pattern of failure to comply with university behavioral expectations.

6.5.3. Amnesty pertaining to alcohol and/or other drugs. A student who contacts emergency services or takes an individual to receive emergency treatment for possible alcohol and/or drug overdose will not be charged under this code for possession or use of alcohol or other drugs. This amnesty only applies if:

- The student stays with the individual needing treatment until emergency services arrive;
- The student takes reasonable measures to assist the individual needing treatment; and
- The student is cooperative with emergency services and university processes.

6.5.4. Amnesty pertaining to hazing and hazing behavior. Any person reporting to the Student Conduct Office, Student & Civic Engagement, or the University Police Department, a specific hazing incident involving a student is immune from liability, civil or criminal, for that incident, that might have otherwise been incurred or imposed as a result of the report.

6.5.5. Reporting in Bad Faith. Any person reporting an incident in bad faith or with malice is not protected by the amnesty rules established by the university and may result in involvement in the student conduct process.

7. Student Conduct Proceedings

The university views the student conduct system as an educational experience that can result in growth in personal understanding of one’s responsibilities and privileges in the University community. Standards of conduct have been established to protect the rights of others and the orderly operation of the University. The focus of student conduct proceedings is to determine whether the University’s standards have been violated. To this end, student conduct proceedings attempt to balance an understanding and knowledge of the student’s needs with the needs of the University community. Student conduct proceedings shall be administrative in nature and need not comply with the formal legal processes associated with the criminal and civil courts, nor shall deviations from prescribed processes invalidate a decision or proceeding unless significant prejudice to the student or University may result.

7.1. Interpretation and Revision of the Code of Student Conduct

7.1.1. Any question of interpretation or application of the Code of Student Conduct shall be referred to the senior Student Conduct Administrator or designee for final determination.

7.1.2. The Code of Student Conduct shall be reviewed every two years under the direction of the Student Conduct Office. Failure to conduct this review shall not invalidate any portion of this Code.

7.2. Due Process and Responding to Alleged Student Misconduct

Procedures and rights in student conduct proceedings are conducted with fairness to all, but do not include the same protections of due process afforded by the judicial system.

Due process within the student conduct context assures:

7.2.1. Written notification sent to the student's official University-issued email address;

7.2.2. A conference before an objective decision-maker;

7.2.3. A finding of responsibility will not be made without information showing it is more likely than not that a violation occurred; and,

7.2.4. Sanctions will be proportionate to the severity of the violation.

7.3. Charges and Student Conduct Conferences

Individuals may bring a complaint against a student for alleged violations of the Code of Student Conduct. Any complaint should be submitted as soon as possible after the event takes place. Such complaints may be submitted to the Student Conduct Office. An investigation may be initiated to determine if the complaint has merit. Complaints may result in charges, a form of alternative dispute resolution, or dismissal of the complaint. These decisions are made at the sole discretion of the University. To ensure students understand how to appropriately pursue a grievance at the university, students are encouraged to seek clarification and advice regarding procedures before initiating a grievance. Although a student may seek such advice from any faculty or staff member, there are staff within the Division of Student Affairs are trained to help students who have grievances. Students are encouraged to seek assistance from the Student Affairs Office in pursuing any type of grievance.

7.5. Presumption of Responsibility

7.5.1. In all investigations and in any hearing or proceeding, a presumption will exist that a respondent is not responsible for the allegation(s) until a determination is made at the conclusion of an adjudicatory process.

7.6. Standard Level of Proof

7.6.1. The standard level of proof for all alleged violations of the Code of Student Conduct shall be "Preponderance of the Evidence." Preponderance of the evidence shall refer to that which is “more likely than not” to be true, based on the totality of the available evidence.

7.7. Transcript Notation

- 7.7.1. When a sanction of suspension or expulsion is assigned as a result of violating a student rule, a notation will be documented on the student’s academic transcript. The transcript notation will remain in effect for the duration of the active sanction. Additionally, the notation will differentiate between an academic or conduct violation.
- 7.7.2. The student’s academic transcript will not be released while a pending student conduct matter is under review that may result in suspension or expulsion.

8. Student Conduct Proceedings

- 8.1. Student Conduct Conferences that may result in separation from the university shall be conducted by the following guidelines with the exception of cases that involve potential violations of Texas A&M University System Policy 08.01 and System Regulation 08.01.01. Fact patterns that include one or more possible violations of 08.01.01 may utilize procedures outline in A&M-Central Texas Rule 08.01.01.D1. Accused students subject to less severe sanctions may, at the discretion of the Student Conduct Administrator, be afforded but are not guaranteed the guidelines outlined below. These guidelines are as follows:
 - 8.1.1. Student conduct conferences will typically be conducted in private and may involve join conferences where two or more students are charged in the same fact pattern.
 - 8.1.1.1. The Student Conduct Administrator has the sole discretion of conducting student conduct conferences jointly or separately.

 - 8.1.3.1. All rules on advisors will apply equally to all parties.

 - 8.1.3.3. Advisors who fail to adhere to established rules may be dismissed from the process at the discretion of the student conduct administrator or hearing panel chair.
 - 8.1.3.4. The advisor must not be a witness, otherwise similarly charged, or in any other way a party to the same fact pattern as the requesting party and must be in good standing with the university.
 - 8.1.3.5. Advisors may not be verbally abusive, disruptive to the process, or persist in trying to inappropriately participate.
 - 8.1.3.6. The advisor or support person may not be an attorney unless the accused student is also the subject of a pending subsequent criminal matter arising out of the same circumstances; in such cases, the accused student may be allowed to have an attorney serve as the accused student’s advisor, at their own expense, to behave in the same manner as any other advisor.

- 8.1.4. Resolution Options. Students will be provided with two avenues for resolving allegations of misconduct: Formal Student Conduct Conference and Administrative Disposition
- 8.1.4.1. Formal Student Conduct Conference. All formal student conduct conferences shall be conducted by the Student Conduct Panel and are typically reserved for situations in which the accused student disputes the facts upon which the allegations of misconduct are based, or the accused student does not waive a formal conference.
- 8.1.4.2. Administrative Disposition. Administrative Disposition Student Conduct Conferences are conducted by a Student Conduct Administrator within the Student Conduct Office and are shall be the default student conduct conference unless a formal conference is requested by the accused student.

Student impact statements and other documents shall be reviewed during the sanctioning phase only.
- 8.1.7. Students are responsible for presenting their own information. Therefore, a student should select an advisor whose schedule allows attendance at the scheduled date and time for the student conduct conference. Student conduct conferences will not typically be delayed due to scheduling conflicts of an advisor. There is no restriction on who a student may consult or seek advice from, the restriction pertains to the conduct conference only.
- 8.1.8. Cases in Absentia. For cases in which a reasonable effort was made to notify the respondent(s) of the complaint and of the time and place of the conference, the University may conduct a conference at which the respondent is not present. The Student Conduct Administrator or designee will consider the information provided, weigh the facts, and render an appropriate decision.
- 8.1.9. The Student Conduct Panel may accommodate concerns for the personal safety, well-being, and/or fears of confrontation of the complainant, accused student, and/or other witnesses during the conference. There is no entitlement to these accommodations, and they shall be determined by the Student Conduct Administrator. - 8.2.2. In the appellate process, the burden of proof shifts to the student to show cause for the appeal.
- 8.2.3. Appellate bodies may uphold the sanction(s) imposed by the original student conduct conference or may modify the sanction(s) imposed. If sufficient information is presented that may have materially altered the decision of the original student conduct administrator or panel and was not or could not have been known at the time of the original conference and/or the original conference failed to appropriately follow the guidelines described above, the appellate body may require the case be heard again by a Student Conduct Panel administered by the Student Conduct Office.
- 8.2.4. Students requesting an appeal must confine their appeal to the following grounds:
 - a procedural irregularity that affected the outcome;
 - new evidence that was not reasonably available at the time the determination regarding responsibility or dismissal was made that could affect the outcome. The new evidence must be provided at the time of appeal; which results in a student's status as "not in good standing." The restrictions will be clearly defined.

- 9.3.5. Conduct Review: An official warning that the student's conduct is in violation of the Code of Student Conduct, but is not sufficiently serious to warrant expulsion, suspension, or disciplinary probation. A student on conduct review shall have their conduct under review for a specified period. This sanction may require regular meetings with an appropriate official to ascertain and evaluate compliance with student rules. Additional restrictions or conditions also may be imposed, depending on the nature and seriousness of the misconduct. Students placed on this sanction remain in good standing with the University.

Suspensions may be implemented in one of two ways: immediate implementation of suspension or deferred implementation of suspension. The sanction of suspensions may be placed in a deferred status. If the student is found in violation of any University rule during the time of deferred suspension, the suspension will take effect immediately without further review. Additional student conduct sanctions appropriate to the new violation also may be applied. A student who has been issued a deferred suspension sanction is deemed "not in good standing" with the university.
 - 9.3.10.1. At the end of the period of suspension, the student is eligible for reenrollment. Actual admission to the university will be determined by the academic rules in place at the time of application for reenrollment.

A student conduct proceeding will be scheduled as soon thereafter as practicable.
- 9.4.1.3. During interim suspension, a student may be denied access to campus (including classes) and/or all other university activities or privileges for which the student might otherwise be eligible.
- 9.4.1.4. The interim suspension does not replace the regular process, which shall proceed on the normal schedule, up to and through a student conduct conference, if required. However, the student should be notified in writing of this action and the reasons for the interim suspension. The notice should include the time, date, and place of a subsequent conference at which the student may show cause as to why his/her continued presence on the campus does not constitute a threat and at which the student may contest whether the facts of the initial report are accurate.
- 9.4.2. Interim Restrictions
- 9.4.2.1. Interim restrictions may be imposed (1) when a student has been placed on interim suspension; (2) when a determination is made to implement a transcript hold under A&M University-Central Texas Policy 11.99.02; and/or (3) in instances when the student's participation or representation would threaten or negatively impact other students who are participating and/or representing an organization or the university. When interim restrictions are imposed, a student will be notified in writing of the specifics of the restrictions and why the restrictions are being implemented. Complaints may result in the development of a student conduct file in the name of the accused student. The file(s) of a student found to be in violation of the student rules shall be retained as a student conduct record for no less than five (5) years from the date of the student's graduation or from the last day of the last semester the student is enrolled. Student conduct records may also be retained for as long as administratively valuable. The records may be retained permanently if the student was expelled, suspended, or blocked from reenrollment and/or in situations that may result in future litigation.

Complaints of sexual harassment, sexual misconduct, dating violence, domestic violence, stalking, or related retaliation may result in the development of a file in the complainant's name. This file shall be retained for no less than five (5) years from the complainant's graduation date or from the last day of the last semester the complainant is enrolled. These files may be retained for as long as they are administratively valuable.

Student conduct files and associated records are maintained and controlled by the Student Conduct Office. To protect the privacy of these records and reduce opportunities for harassment and/or retaliation, the office maintains strict policies about the review and duplication of these files. While students have the opportunity to review their record, students will not be provided a copy of their student conduct file or record. Students may receive a copy of their file, at the discretion of the senior Student Conduct Administrator, if there is no reasonable alternative for that student to review the file for their participation in the student conduct proceeding. Files shall not be provided to a student's support person or advisor for review without the presence and authorization of that student. Individuals may not remove any records, make any copies of records, or photograph any records located in, or associated with, a student conduct file or record without the explicit permission of the Student Conduct Office.

A student conduct record with an expulsion, suspension, an unresolved case, or any open sanction will not be eligible for expungement. Factors to be considered in review of such petitions include, but are not limited to:
 - the student's level of understanding of their behavior and its impact;
 - the conduct of the student after the violation;
 - the present demeanor of the requesting student; and,
 - the nature of the violation and the severity of any damage, injury, or harm resulting from the violation.
- 10.2. Family Education Rights & Privacy Act (FERPA)
 The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 is a federal regulation guaranteeing students or their parent(s) access to all educational records that pertain to the student and protects the privacy of these records. Upon reaching the age of 18 or enrolling in an institution of higher education, the student is the primary owner of the record. Students have the right to inspect and review their own educational records as well as to request the school correct records the student believes to be inaccurate or misleading. Students are encouraged to review the University's FERPA policy (Appendix D): <https://www.tamuct.edu/compliance/ferpa.html>

- 11.2. Students required to withdraw from the university as a result of a conduct conference, and who desire to be reinstated must request permission for readmission from the Student Conduct Office at least three (3) weeks prior to the first day of the semester or summer session in which registration is request.
- 11.3. Evidence supporting the student's ability to function within established expectations in a university environment may be required. The student Conduct Office may deny a request for readmission if there is sufficient evidence the respondent's conduct during the suspension would have warranted disciplinary action or if the respondent failed to complete tasks imposed in the student conduct process.
- 11.4. If readmission is denied, the Student Conduct Office will set a new date at which another request for readmission may be made.
- 11.5. The Student Conduct Office is only empowered to recommend readmission to the University and has no ability to impact a student's entry or denial of entry into university professional programs or similarly situated academic programs.

12. Student Organizations

- 12.1. Student organization leaders must meet minimum requirements, as outlined herein, in order to maintain the recognition of their student organizations. Should they fail to meet these requirements, a student leader will be ineligible to hold an office in a student organization. Students wishing to contest their ineligibility may submit an appeal through Student & Civic Engagement as outlined in the Student Organization Manual. Organizations choosing to set higher standards for their membership or leadership are responsible for holding members accountable to these higher standards.
- 12.2. A&M University-Central Texas acknowledges that self-governing student organizations contribute significantly to the educational, social, and personal development of students, as well as to the vibrant culture of the institution. The University further recognizes that students may freely establish and participate in these organizations within the context of local, state, and federal law, as well as University policies and Student Rules. In order to receive and retain official recognition, student organizations must be granted approval by the Assistant Vice President and Dean of Student Affairs through the Associate Dean of Student Affairs or designee, and they must annually meet certain requirements. Privileges associated with the status of being officially recognized by the University include the use of the university's name, logos, and trademarks as defined by the University Brand Guide, university facilities for meetings, and University property for solicitation. To be recognized and/or maintain their recognized status, student organizations must:

- 12.2.1. Have an approved faculty or staff advisor, employed at a level consistent with the categorization of the organization and committed to upholding the expectations of an advisor as defined in the “Acknowledgement of Student Organization Advisor Expectations” and the Student Organization Manual.
- 12.2.2. Annually renew their recognition with Student & Civic Engagement. An organization’s annual recognition cycle should begin in the month the organization elects or selects leadership, as defined by the organization’s constitution. Each organization must provide signatures of the University advisor and the student officers authorized to withdraw money; the names and contact information of all advisors and officers of the group; an up-to-date profile of the student organization; and a current constitution and by-laws that comply with the provisions outlined in the Student Organization Manual. Student leader and advisor training must also be completed during the renewal period. A&M University-Central Texas may identify required enhanced expectations for organizations with a specialized/higher degree of risk or affiliation with the university.
- 12.2.3. A student organization must maintain a name and mission that distinguishes it from other existing organizations. Organizations may not be formed for the purpose of participation in illegal activities or activities that violate the rights of others.
- 12.3. Students selected, elected, or appointed as officers (an officer is an individual in a leadership position as defined in the organization’s constitution) in officially recognized, regardless of recognition type, student organizations shall:
 - 12.3.1. Have a minimum cumulative and semester grade point average (GPA) as stated below and meet minimum cumulative and semester GPA in the semester immediately prior to the election/selection/appointment, the semester of election/selection/appointment, and semesters during the term of office.
 - 12.3.2. For undergraduate students, the minimum cumulative and semester GPA is 2.00. In order for this provision to be met, at least six hours (half-time credits) must have been taken for the semester under consideration unless fewer credits are required as they complete the final stages of their degree. In one limited circumstance, summer semester hours may qualify toward a grade point average prior to election/selection/appointment if at least six credit hours have been taken during the course of a summer session.

08.99.99.D1 Expressive Activity on Campus

Approved: May 14, 2020
Next Scheduled Review: May 14, 2025

Rule Summary

In 2019, the 86th Texas Legislature passed Senate Bill 18, addressing the protection of campus expressive activities. This new law adds Texas Education Code Section 51.935, which requires that each public institution of higher education “adopt a policy detailing student’s rights and responsibilities regarding expressive activities” on its campus.

As stated in the Preamble to the bill: Freedom of expression is of critical importance and requires each public institution of higher education to ensure free, robust, and uninhibited debate and deliberations by students enrolled at the institution, regardless of whether the students are on or off campus. It is a matter of statewide concern that all public institutions of higher education officially recognize freedom of speech as a fundamental right. Freedom of speech and assembly is central to the mission of institutions of higher education and persons should be permitted to assemble peaceably on the campuses of institutions of higher education for expressive activities, including to listen to or observe the expressive activities of others.

Definitions

Definitions of terms used in this rule. The definition includes both the singular and plural version of the term:

3. Common outdoor areas means places located outside a building or facility that are accessible to the public, such as streets, sidewalks, plazas, lawns, and parks, unless closed by the university for a special event. This term does not include areas immediately adjacent to a private residence.

5. Expressive activity means any speech or expressive conduct protected by the First Amendment to the United States Constitution or by Section 8, Article I, Texas Constitution, and includes assemblies, protests, speeches, the distribution of written material, the carrying of signs, and the circulation of petitions. 6. Faculty means any full or part-time employee of the university holding an academic appointment.

7. Materially and substantially disrupt means interrupting a program or activity in a significant and consequential manner.
 8. Person means students, faculty, staff, student organizations, and third-parties.
 9. Reasonable time, place, and manner restrictions means limitations that: (1) are narrowly tailored to serve a significant institutional interest; (2) employ clear, published, content-neutral, and viewpoint-neutral criteria; (3) provide for ample alternative means of expression.

 13. Third-party (External Client) means an individual or entity that is not a student, student organization, or employee of the university.
 14. Traditional public forum means a place, widely recognized in law, which has been intended for the use of the public, and has been used for purposes of assembly, communicating thoughts between citizens, and discussing public questions when the principal function of the location would not be disrupted by expressive activity. - 1.1. Any person is allowed, subject to reasonable time, place, and manner restrictions, to engage in expressive activities on campus, including by responding to the expressive activities of others.
- 1.2. Student organizations and employees are allowed to invite speakers to speak on campus. In determining the amount of a fee to be charged for use of the university's facilities for purposes of engaging in expressive activities, the university may consider only content-neutral and viewpoint-neutral criteria related to the requirements of the event, such as the proposed venue and the expected size of the audience, any anticipated need for campus security, any necessary accommodations, and any relevant history of compliance or noncompliance by the requesting student organization or employee with this rule and other relevant rules. The university may not consider any anticipated controversy related to the event.
- 1.3. The university may not take action against a student organization or deny the organization any benefit generally available to other student organizations at the university on the basis of a political, religious, philosophical, ideological, or academic viewpoint expressed by the organization or of any expressive activities of the organization.

- 1.4. The common outdoor areas of the university's campus are deemed traditional public forums. Any person is permitted to engage in expressive activities in these areas freely, as long as the person's conduct: (a) is not unlawful; and (b) does not materially and substantially disrupt the functioning of the institution. Members of the university community are allowed to assemble or distribute written material in common outdoor areas without a permit or other permission from the institution.
- 1.5. Nothing in this rule should be interpreted as prohibiting faculty members from maintaining order in the classroom.

2. GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

- 2.1. Any person who believes that their campus expressive activity rights, as recognized by this rule, have been unduly interfered with by a student, student organization, or employee has the right to file a grievance.
- 2.2. Grievances should be filed with the Office of Institutional Compliance.
- 2.3. A student, student organization, or employee who is found to have unduly interfered with another person's expressive activity rights, as recognized by this rule, is subject to disciplinary action in accordance with the university's applicable rules and procedures. The University Compliance Office will investigate the grievance and draft a report summarizing its findings. If a violation of this rule was found to occur the report will be referred to the appropriate office for further action. The referral office will be determined by the status of the offending individual. Complaints concerning (a) faculty, staff and third-parties will be referred to the Office of Human Resources; (b) student will be referred to the Associate Dean of Student Affairs.

- 3.2. A copy of this rule shall be provided to students during the university's new student orientation program.
- 3.3. A copy of this rule shall be posted to the university's website.

4. EXTERNAL CLIENT EVENTS

Events organized by an external party and held on campus must be sponsored by a recognized student organization, university academic or administrative unit, or an A&M System member.

SECTION 3. Section 4.19, Education Code, is repealed.

SECTION 4. If any provision of this Act or its application to any person, entity or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of this Act that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this Act are declared to be severable.

SECTION 5. This Act takes effect August 31, 1987 and applies only to the punishment for an offense committed under Subchapter B, Chapter 4, Education Code, on or after that date. An offense committed under Section 4.19, Education Code, before the effective date of the Act is covered by the law in effect when the offense was committed, and the former law is continued in effect for that purpose. For purposes of this section, an offense is committed before the effective date of this Act if any element of the offense occurs before the effective date.

Appendix D: Family Educational Rights & Privacy Act of 1974

To comply with the requirements of the “Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974,” Texas A&M University periodically announces publicly the rules and procedures implementing the act. Additional information is available from the Texas A&M University-Central Texas Registrar’s Office.

Several types of student records are maintained in various university offices, and the chief administrator in each of these offices is responsible for them. With certain exceptions, the law provides that students and former students have the right to review their records, request explanations concerning them, obtain copies and challenge records that they feel are inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise inappropriate.

The challenge procedure includes a full and fair opportunity for the student to present relevant evidence at a hearing. The law also provides that students may waive their right of access to confidential letters of recommendation and may also grant permission to release certain personally identifiable information to unauthorized personnel.

The exceptions to this law, i.e., records not accessible to students, include educational personnel records in the possession of the author; records maintained for law enforcement purposes; employment records of non-students; records maintained by a physician, psychiatrist, or psychologist; and financial records of a student’s parents.

The law also provides that, in addition to university employees having a “legitimate educational interest,” certain other governmental and quasi-governmental agencies and parents certifying that a student is carried as a dependent for income tax purposes may have access to student records.

The university can release “directory information” such as name, address, telephone listing, major field of study, classification, place of birth, participation in activities and sports, height and weight of athletic team members, degrees and awards received, etc.; students may, however, request that this information be withheld. The registrar’s office maintains a complete list of the types of directory information the university can release.

Appendix E: Campus Fire Safety

Effective fire alarm systems are essential for the protection of life and property. Tampering with fire detection and alarm system equipment is a Class A Misdemeanor, which is punishable by (1) a fine not to exceed $4,000; (2) confinement in jail for a term not to exceed one year; or (3) both such fine and imprisonment. In addition, a student offender is subject to all appropriate university administrative sanctions as authorized in Section 27, Sanctions.

Section 42.06 of the Texas Penal Code states in part that “A person commits an offense if he knowingly initiates, communicates, circulates, or broadcasts a report of a present, past, or future bombing, fire, offense, or other emergency that he knows is false or baseless and that would ordinarily:

1. cause action by an official or volunteer agency organized to deal with emergencies;
2. place a person in fear of imminent serious bodily injury;
3. or prevent or interrupt the occupation of a building, room or place to which the public has access.”

Appendix F: Disruptive Activities on Campus or Property of Educational Institutions

Disruptive activity means:

1. Obstruction or restraining the passage of persons in an exit, entrance, or hallway of any building;
2. Seizing control of any building or portion of a building for the purpose of interfering with any university-authorized activity;
3. Preventing or attempting to prevent by force or violence or the threat of force or violence, any lawful assembly authorized by the university;
4. Disrupting by force or violence or the threat of force or violence, a lawful assembly in progress; or
5. Obstructing or restraining the passage of any person at an exit or entrance to the university or property or attempting to prevent by force or violence or the threat of force or violence the ingress or egress of any persons to or from said property.

A lawful assembly is disrupted when any person in attendance is rendered incapable of participating in the assembly due to the use of force or violence or due to a reasonable fear that force or violence is likely to occur. A person violating any provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction can be fined not to exceed $200 or confinement in jail for not less than ten days nor more than six months, or both.

Any person convicted of violating this section for the third time shall be ineligible to attend any school, college or university receiving funds from the State of Texas for a period of two years from the date of his or her third conviction.

This section shall not be construed to infringe upon any right of free speech or expression guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States or the State of Texas.

Maintaining Order on the Campuses or Facilities of State-Supported Institutions Subchapter

E-1. Section 51.231-51.244 Texas Education Code

51.231. Definition of Periods of Disruption

For purposes of this subchapter, a period of disruption is any period in which it reasonably appears that there is a threat of destruction to institutional property, injury to human life on the campus or facility, or a threat of willful disruption of the orderly operation of the campus or facility.

51.232. Identification of Persons on Campus

(a) During periods of disruption, as determined by the chief administrative officer of a state-supported institution of higher education, the chief administrative officer, or an officer or employee of the institution designated by him to maintain order on the campus or facility of the institution, may require that any person on the campus or facility present evidence of his identification, or if the person is a student or employee of the institution, his student or employee official institutional identification card, or other evidence of his relationship with the institution.

(b) If any person refuses or fails upon request to present evidence of his identification, or if the person is a student or employee of the institution, his student or employee official identification card, or other evidence of his relationship with the institution, and if it reasonably appears that the person has no legitimate reason to be on the campus or facility, the person may be ejected from the campus or facility.

51.233. Withdrawal of Consent to Remain on Campus

(a) During periods of disruption, the chief administrative officer of a campus or other facility of a state-supported institution of higher education, or an officer or employee of the institution designated by his to maintain order on the campus or facility, may notify a person that consent to remain on the campus or facility under the control of the chief administrative officer has been withdrawn whenever there is reasonable cause to believe that the person has willfully disrupted the orderly operation of the campus or facility and that his presence on the campus or facility will constitute a substantial and material threat to the orderly operation of the campus or facility.

(b) In no case shall consent be withdrawn for longer than 14 days from the date on which consent was initially withdrawn.

(c) Notification shall be in accordance with procedures set out in Section 51.234 of this code.

51.234. Notice of Withdrawal of Consent

When the chief administrative officer of a campus or other facility of a state-supported institution of higher education, or an officer or employee of the institution designated by him to maintain order on the campus or facility, decides to withdraw consent for any person to remain on the campus or facility, he shall notify that person in writing that consent to remain is withdrawn. The written notice must contain all the following:

6. that consent to remain on the campus has been withdrawn and the number of days for which consent has been withdrawn, not to exceed 14;
7. the name and job title of the person withdrawing consent, along with an address where the person withdrawing consent can be contacted during regular working hours;
8. a brief statement of the activity or activities resulting in the withdrawal of consent;

51.235. Report to Chief Administrative Officer

Whenever consent is withdrawn by any authorized officer or employee other than the chief administrative officer, the officer or employee shall submit a written report to the chief administrative officer within 24 hours, unless the authorized officer or employee has reinstated consent for the person to remain on the campus. The report must contain all the following:

10. the description of the person from whom consent was withdrawn, including, if available, the person's name, address, and phone number;
11. and a statement of the facts giving rise to the withdrawal of consent.

51.236. Confirmation of Withdrawal of Consent

(a) If the chief administrative officer or, in his absence, a person designated by him for this purpose, upon reviewing the written report described in Section 51.235, finds that there was reasonable cause to believe that the person has willfully disrupted the orderly operation of the campus or facility, and that his presence on the campus or facility will constitute a substantial and material threat to the orderly operation of the campus or facility, he may enter written confirmation upon the report of the action taken by the officer or employee.

(b) If the chief administrative officer, or in his absence, the person designated by him, does not confirm the action of the officer or employee within 24 hours after the time that consent was withdrawn, the action of the officer or employee shall be deemed void and of no force or effect, except that any arrest made during the period shall not for this reason be deemed not to have been made for probable cause.

51.237. Request for Hearing

(a) A person from whom consent has been withdrawn may submit a written request for a hearing on the withdrawal to the chief administrative officer within the 14-day period. The written request must state the address to which notice of hearing is to be sent. The chief administrative officer shall grant a hearing no later than three days from the date of receipt of the request and shall immediately mail a written notice of the time, place, and date of the hearing to the person.

(b) The hearing shall be held before a duly designated discipline committee or authorized hearing officer of the institution in accordance with Section 51.243. In no instance shall the person issuing the withdrawal notice or causing it to be issued serve on any committee where the validity of his order of withdrawal is in question.

51.238. Reinstatement of Consent to Remain on Campus

The chief administrative officer shall reinstate consent whenever he has reason to believe that the presence of the person from whom consent was withdrawn will not constitute a substantial and material threat to the orderly operation of the campus or facility.

51.239. Entering or Remaining on Campus After Withdrawal of Consent

(a) Any person who has been notified by the chief administrative officer of a campus or facility of a state-supported institution of higher education, or by an officer or employee designated by the chief administrative officer to maintain order on the campus or facility, that consent to

Appendix G: HIV/AIDS in the Workplace and Learning Environment

I. Background

Senate Bill 959, passed in the 71st Legislature, specifies that workplace guidelines be promulgated to assure that the rights and privileges of individuals infected with the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) are protected. Pursuant to that requirement and in recognition of the serious nature of HIV and related health issues in the work and learning environment, the following guidelines and rules are established for Texas A&M University-Central Texas (the university).

II. Definition

Human Immunodeficiency Virus cripples the body's ability, through the immune system, to fight infection. Once infected with HIV, a person may remain without symptoms for a long period of time, but is able to infect others through sexual or direct blood contact. As the disease progresses, the immune system can become so weakened that a person may eventually develop life-threatening infections and cancers. Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome (AIDS) is the final stage of the HIV infection.

III. Methods of HIV/AIDS Transmission

An individual infected with HIV, although seemingly healthy and without symptoms, may transmit the virus in the following ways:

- by having sex with an uninfected person (through semen, vaginal fluids or blood);
- by sharing needles and syringes;
- from the mother to the fetus during pregnancy or possibly to the baby through breast-feeding; or
- by donating infected blood or blood products.

Current scientific and medical technology has determined that HIV is transmitted through certain behaviors, not the environment, and that there is no risk of HIV/AIDS infection through routine daily contact. Live HIV must gain entry to the bloodstream or mucous membranes to cause infection. Employees and students are not at risk of exposure to HIV through:

- casual contact (shaking hands, working side-by-side);
- use of equipment or supplies (tools, telephones, machinery, furniture or typewriters);
- use of rest rooms, eating or cooking facilities, water fountains;
- the environment (air, water, insects); or
- donating blood for blood drives.

IV. HIV/AIDS in the Work/Learning Environment

The existence of HIV infection should not be used to determine suitability of applicants for employment or for student admission unless current scientific information indicates that required activities may expose others to risk of transmission.

A student with HIV infection should be allowed to attend classes without restrictions as long as the student is physically and mentally able to participate, perform assigned work and poses no physical health risk to others.

An HIV-infected employee will remain employed as long as he or she meets job performance standards and does not engage in activities on the job which current scientific information indicates may expose others to risk of transmission. This right is protected by law.

V. HIV/AIDS Rules Promulgation

The university will adopt rules, procedures and education programs to help its employees and students better understand the medical, legal, administrative and ethical issues involved with HIV/AIDS.

The rules establish that a person's refusal to work or attend classes with HIV-infected individuals will be carefully monitored and documented. Appropriate accommodation or corrective or disciplinary measures may be implemented for people who refuse to work or attend classes with HIV-infected individuals.

The university's rules are available to students, faculty and staff members through handbooks, manuals, brochures or any other method deemed appropriate. Institutional course catalogs should state that educational pamphlets are available to students.

Such rules shall be submitted to the System General Counsel for review and approval.

Texas A&M does not discriminate against any individual applying for and living in university housing provided the person meets all university admissions criteria and abides by residence hall rules. As such, Texas A&M University will not exclude HIV-positive students from university housing and will grant the same rights and confidentiality to HIV residents as are accorded to all residence hall students.

There is no justification for excluding individuals infected with HIV from residential housing. In some circumstances, however, there may be reasonable concern for the health of someone with a weakened immune system, whether due to HIV infection or another illness, who might be exposed to certain infectious diseases in a community living situation. Students with HIV may be offered a private room only after thorough discussion with the student involved and only with his/her consent. Throughout the above discussion, the student's identity will be protected.

VI. Workplace Management

The approach and resolution of HIV issues in the workplace will vary among System members. Careful attention should be given to:

- existing leave rules for management of chronic conditions;
- assessment of employee and agency needs;

current scientific information about HIV and its related conditions; and current laws and rules regarding HIV/AIDS. (For information on testing, refer to HIV Testing . For information on confidentiality, refer to Confidentiality.)

During the asymptomatic period, the employee is not obligated to provide information about his/her HIV status to the employer. Once HIV-related symptoms occur, it is the employee's responsibility to provide to the employer medically verified information relating to the employee's ability to perform job duties.

VII. Eligibility for Benefits

Workers' Compensation—For the purpose of qualifying for Workers' Compensation or any other similar benefits, State law requires that an employee must provide a written statement of the date and circumstances of the work-related exposure to HIV infection and document the fact that, within 10 days or less after the exposure, the employee had a test result that indicated an absence of HIV infection. An employee who may have been exposed to HIV while performing duties of employment may not be required to be tested, but refusal to be tested may jeopardize Workers' Compensation benefits.

Unemployment Compensation Benefits—Each System member shall inform employees that state law provides that an individual will be disqualified for Unemployment Compensation Benefits:

if the Texas Workforce Commission (TWC) finds that the employee left work voluntarily rather than provide services included within the course and scope of employment to an individual infected with a communicable disease, including HIV. This disqualification applies if the university provided facilities, equipment, training and supplies necessary to take reasonable precautions against infection.

if the TWC finds that the employee has been discharged from employment based on a refusal to provide services included within the course and scope of employment to an individual infected with a communicable disease, including HIV. This disqualification applies if the university provided facilities, equipment, training and supplies necessary to take reasonable precautions against infection.

Health Benefits—No university student or employee will be subjected to impermissible discrimination under a health benefits plan endorsed by the university on the basis of a positive HIV test result.

VIII. HIV Education Programs

The university offers educational training programs on HIV/AIDS to students and employees. Such programs should be tailored to the cultural, educational, language and developmental needs of the target audience.

The university shall annually provide each employee an educational pamphlet about methods of transmission and prevention of HIV infection and relevant state laws. A pamphlet also shall be provided to new employees on the first day of employment.

Institutions shall make available to students, on request, one or more educational pamphlets on HIV infection developed by the TDH or similar educational materials and shall include in the student handbook a statement that pamphlets are available from the institution.

The student health center should provide information on prevention of HIV infection, including:

- the value of abstinence and long-term mutual monogamy;
- information on the efficacy and use of condoms; and
- State laws relating to the transmission, and to conduct that may result in the transmission, of HIV.

IX. Guidelines Related to Laboratory and Health Care Professions Training

Safety Precautions—The university shall develop guidelines for health care workers and students in the health professions concerning prevention of transmission of HIV and concerning health care workers who have HIV infection. Each System health care worker who is involved in hands-on patient care should complete an educational course about HIV infection based on the model education program and workplace guidelines developed by the TDH and the guidelines of this policy.

Education of Students Entering Health Professions—Each institution offering medical, dental, nursing, allied health, counseling and social work degree programs should include within the program curricula information about:

- methods of transmission and methods of prevention of HIV infection;
- Federal and state laws, rules and regulations concerning HIV infection and AIDS; and
- the physical, emotional and psychological stress associated with the care of patients with terminal illnesses.

Guidelines for Laboratory Courses—University laboratory courses requiring exposure to material that has potential for transmitting HIV should adopt safety guidelines for handling such material and distribute this information to students and staff prior to such exposure.

X. HIV Testing

Mandatory Testing—No programs for mandatory HIV testing of employees, students or patients should be undertaken unless required by law or court order.

Voluntary Testing and Counseling—Student health centers should offer or refer students, faculty and staff members for confidential or anonymous HIV counseling and testing services. All testing conducted by the university will comply with the section Informed Consent and will include counseling before and after the test. Unless required by law, test results should be revealed to the person tested only when the opportunity is provided for immediate, individual, face-to-face counseling about:

- the meaning of the test result;
- the possible need for additional testing;
- measures to prevent the transmission of HIV;

the availability of appropriate health care services, including mental health care and appropriate social and support services in the geographic area of the person's residence; the benefits of partner notification; the availability of partner notification programs; and identifying and changing high risk behaviors.

Informed Consent—Unless otherwise authorized or required by law, no HIV test should be performed without informed consent of the person to be tested. Consent will be written on a separate form, or the medical record will document that the test has been explained and consent has been obtained. The consent form will state that post-test counseling will be offered or the medical record will note that the patient has been informed that post-test counseling will be offered.

Reporting of Test Results—HIV test results will be reported in compliance with all applicable statutory requirements, including the Communicable Disease Prevention and Control Act, Texas Health and Safety Code, Section 81.001.

Conditions of HIV Testing of Employees at Institution's Expense—Employees will be informed that they may request HIV testing and counseling at the expense of the university if:

the employee documents, to the satisfaction of the president, possible exposure to HIV while performing duties of employment; and the employee was exposed to HIV in a manner that is capable of transmitting HIV as determined by guidelines developed by the Texas Department of Health and the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Confidentiality

Based on the Federal Privacy Act, the Texas Commission on Human Rights Act and the Texas Communicable Disease Prevention and Control Act, any medical documentation or information provided by an HIV-infected employee or student to medical or management personnel must be considered confidential and private information. As such, employers are forbidden by law to disclose this information without the employee's knowledge and consent, except as provided by law (Communicable Disease Prevention and Control Act, Section 9.03, as amended by S.B. 959).

With consent of the HIV-infected employee, appropriate agency officials such as medical staff, personnel representatives and/or direct supervisors may be informed of the infected employee's condition. Anyone who has access to confidential information is charged with maintaining strict confidentiality and privacy. It must be emphasized that any individual within an organization who breaches the HIV-infected employee's rights has committed a serious offense. This breach may be cause for litigation, resulting in both civil and criminal penalties.

Appendix I: Drug/Drug Paraphernalia Rules for Students

- I. Introduction Texas A&M University-Central Texas strives to assist students in achieving their potential as human beings and in becoming self-directed in all activities. Because growth and development are shaped by a student's environment, the University seeks to develop an environment where students can learn how to live fulfilling and productive lives. Substance abuse disrupts this environment and threatens not only the lives and well-being of our students, faculty and staff, but also their potential for contributing to society. It is important for all members of the University community to take responsibility for preventing substance abuse from negatively affecting the community's learning environment and the academic, physical and emotional well-being of its membership.

These rules deal with education, prevention, intervention, and treatment activities as well as conduct sanctions. The University has established a substance abuse prevention program to help eliminate the threat that substance abuse poses to the University community. Through education, the University is committed to helping individuals achieve their personal and academic goals.

II. Education, Prevention, and Referral for Treatment

Texas A&M University-Central Texas is committed to providing comprehensive drug education and prevention as well as early intervention and treatment referral services. The Student Conduct Office provides information to the University community. Through this broad-based program, the University will provide a setting in which education leads to the prevention of substance abuse.

Assessment and intervention services for students are available through the Student Wellness & Counseling Center (SWACC). If further treatment is necessary, the student may be referred to outside counselors and programs.

III. University Expectations / Definitions

All members of the University community are expected to abide by state and federal laws pertaining to controlled substances and illicit drugs. More specifically, Texas A&M University-Central Texas Student Rules prohibit "using, possessing, being under the influence of, manufacturing, or distribution or being a party thereto of illicit drugs or illicitly obtained/possessed controlled substances and/or prescribed substances and/or drug paraphernalia and/or dangerous drug." (See University Student Rule 6.4.4)

The term "controlled substances," when used in these rules, shall refer to those drugs and substances whose possession, sale, or delivery results in criminal sanctions under the Texas Controlled Substances Act (Texas Civil Statutes, Article 4476-15), as well as substances that possess a chemical structure similar to that of a controlled substance (e.g., "designer drugs").

IV. University Conduct Process

University student conduct charges may be pursued against students alleged to have violated University Student Rules and/or state and federal laws concerning controlled substances. Violations of any state or federal law pertaining to controlled substances that occur off campus and are not associated with a university-connected or adjacent event or activity may result in disciplinary charges in situations in which the continued presence of the individual on campus is likely to interfere with the educational process and the orderly operation of the University.

Student conduct proceedings will be in accordance with procedures outlined in the University Student Rules. Voluntary admission to a substance abuse treatment program prior to the issuance of charges may be looked upon favorably in conduct cases and may serve as a mitigating factor when considering sanctions. Disciplinary action in cases involving drug-related violations may result in suspension or expulsion for the University, depending on the nature and seriousness of the case. Participation in a substance abuse education or treatment program may be required in addition to other sanctions. Any disciplinary action imposed by the University may precede and be in addition to any penalty imposed by an off-campus authority.
